A Message from the JCF President

I would like to begin by first thanking you, dear friends in the ACC, for bestowing upon us the great honor to host the 9th Asian Canoe Slalom Championship coupled with the Asian Continental Qualifier Event for the XXXI Olympiad in Rio de Janeiro this coming summer of 2016. Indeed, there could be no greater compliment and vote of trust in your allowing us to take responsibility for this significant competition that lies in the pathway of your athletes to the Olympic Games.

As the nation that will also be delivering the succeeding XXXII Olympiad in 2020 Tokyo, Japan takes high precedence in the quality and excellence of our sports. As the President of the Japan Canoe Federation, it is my intention to uphold the same principles for this Asian Championship as well.

Yasuo Fukuda
President

Fortunately, we have a great location that guarantees a high-standard competition for your athletes in a natural river environment that can produce some of the most challenging currents. Canoeists of all rapid water disciplines flock to Toyama City each year to train and compete in the Idagawa course. I have no doubt that Asia's esteemed athletes will enjoy a good challenge as they race for the medals in this river this coming April.

Speaking of April, it will be a shame not to mention the magnificent nature that will serve as the backdrop for Toyama 2016. The people of Japan take great pride in our four seasons, which can be enjoyed throughout all hemispheres of the island nation. It is particularly in the spring, when the "sakura" cherry blossoms awaken from the cold winter of hibernation, that our bountiful flora exhibit the spectrum of color and natural vitality. The snowcapped Japanese Alps that line the Toyama horizon will also be a splendid sight to behold at this time of year.

We have had a busy season of World Cups and World Championships in the summer of 2015. I imagine that your athletes are now engaged in their winter training, which is equally as strenuous and demanding, as they set their sights on Rio2016 and Tokyo2020. I look forward to seeing the fruit of their hard efforts and months of preparation in the springtime, quite like the cherry blossoms that patiently and diligently endure the severe winter and finally flourish magnificently in the spring.

Thank you once again for your honest trust in Japan and in the JCF. We await your arrival with hopeful anticipation.

福田康夫

Yasuo Fukuda

President, Japan Canoe Federation
Former Prime Minister of the Nation of Japan

Greetings from the ACC President

As the President of the Asian Canoe Confederation, there is no greater honor or privilege than to welcome my friends and dear athletes of Asia to my motherland, Japan, for this monumental occasion of the 9th Asian Canoe Slalom Championship and Rio de Janeiro Olympics Asian Continental Qualifier Event. The Japan Canoe Federation is proud to offer the Ida River, one of Japan's most magnificent whitewater currents from natural snowmelt waters, as the venue for this international competition.

Nearly twenty-seven years ago, the Ida River was found as a potential location for whitewater activity. Utilizing the dam's functionality of controlled water levels and by inserting boulders into the river, the course was designed to maintain consistent current conditions while upholding the principles of environmental sustainability. The preservation of the natural river allows paddlers to test their skills against the force of real rapids, and for this reason, Idagawa continues to be heralded year after year as the chosen venue for national competitions such as the Wild Water Japan Cups and the NHK Cup Slalom Competitions. It will be an unparalleled honor to have the national slalom champions of Asia test their skills and talents against the Idagawa currents as they compete for the medals and the ticket to Rio.

I hope that as you schedule your delegations' visit to Toyama that you will also mark some leisurely time outside of the races to enjoy the host city as well. Toyama and the neighboring cities boast a bountiful variety of attractions and sights for tourists who enjoy culture, tradition, and especially culinary excellence. Toyama is widely acclaimed to provide some of the finest and freshest seafood in all of Japan, if not the entire world, and the opportunity to savor raw sashimi and sushi in this city is not to be missed.

As the host, the Japan Canoe Federation guarantees an excellent experience both in the water and out. We eagerly await your arrival in April this year. I hope to see you then and welcome you with open arms to my beloved country, Japan.

Shoken Narita
President

Welcome to Toyama!

It is a great honor and privilege to welcome our Asian canoeing friends to Japan this spring of 2016! Not only is this a great opportunity for your teams and athletes to become acquainted with the country that will be hosting the 2020 Tokyo Olympic Games in four-years' time, but it is also a chance to indulge in the richness and pleasures of Japanese culture with all five senses.

Toyama City of Toyama Prefecture is located in the “Hokuriku” central-western region of Japan’s main island, Honshu. It borders the Sea of Japan and is the leading industrial prefecture of the whole coast. The merits of its geography are plenty. With such direct access to the sea, it is no wonder that Toyama is one of the prefectures with the highest number of sushi bars and seafood restaurants in the country, where the freshest raw seafood is served straight off of the boat. The chefs in Toyama pride themselves for their gastronomical excellence, and there is no question that you will have a chance to satiate your taste buds with the sweet savory “hotaru-ika” firefly squid or the “sakura-ebi” shrimp that is conveniently just in season during the week of this championship!

Many tourists who flock to Japan come seeking the metropolitan glamour of Tokyo’s sprawling urban jungle tangled with sky risers, subway grids, and profuse displays of new age technology. But in recent years a growing pool of world travelers and backpackers are steering away from the capitol and venturing into the rural regions of the islands, villages and towns that continue to preserve a subtler and more traditional lifestyle of Japan.

One such destination that has received worldwide acclaim and a UNESCO World Cultural Heritage title for its conservation of the original landscape of Japan’s time-honored agricultural scene is Gokayama in Toyama Prefecture. Those who seek a nostalgic journey into the nation’s feudal history will make it a point to visit two historical settlements in particular: Ainokura and Suganuma. Here, nestled quaintly among robust mountainous woods, a long-standing community of farmers continue their humble routines in harmony with the four seasons in traditional thatched-roofed farmhouses of the Gassho-style. Many of these traditional houses are opened up as guest houses. You may want to set aside a day or two after the competition to spend some leisurely hours beneath the sprawling cherry blossoms and enjoy the Japanese springtime in all of its glory.

Toyama City, frequently referred to as “Little Kyoto,” also embraces a history of Japanese tradition and offers a wide variety of tourist attractions. The city not only boasts some of the finest alpine landscapes and savory cuisine in all of the island nation, but it is also the cultural hub for vibrant, resplendent festivals that are held year-round, full of dances, ancient folk songs, and more for people of all ages to enjoy.

Cherry blossoms in full bloom along the Matsukawa River in Toyama city center.

The thatched-roof farmhouses of Ainokura Village in spring.

A spectacular exhibit of color and light, the large lantern floats are the centerpiece of the Fukuno Yotaka Festival.

The beautiful contrast of red and yellow fields against the blue sky.

You may consider extending your stay until the end of the week after the competition to take part in Fukuno City's once-in-a-year excitement of the Yotaka Festival. Late in the evening on the eve of the festival, thousands of people gather to watch the annual parade of 14m high lantern floats that tower over the crowds in a flurry of dazzling color. Throughout May 1st to 4th, these immaculate, hand-crafted lanterns are carried throughout the city center by people singing the Yotaka song. The Etchu-Yasuo Hikayama Festival is held each year on May 3rd in the city of Yasuo, electrifying the city streets with bustling crowds and pulsating rhythms of shamisens, flutes, and taiko drums orchestrating the festive hikiyama-barashi music. Only on this day, 6 enormous and released in a grandiose procession that carries on throughout the day until late into the night.

Also held in conjunction with the Asian Championships, the annual Tonami Tulip Fair, the largest and most diverse tulip fair in Japan, heralds the spectacular blooming of 2.5 million tulips. The fair displays over 600 different varieties of tulips, the official flower of Toyama Prefecture, and is a rare attraction that spans only for the week while the flowers are in bloom. The fair lasts from April 22nd until May 5th at Tonami Tulip Park, which is accessible by a 5-minute ride on the free shuttle bus that embarks from JR Tonami Station.

There are many other innumerable attractions to look forward to for your visit to Toyama, all of which can be found and read about on the Toyama Prefectural Tourism Association website (English, Russian, Chinese, and Thai languages at the following URL: <http://foreign.info-toyama.com/en/>). We hope that you may use this opportunity to explore the city and prefecture during this high season of festivities, cuisine, and natural beauty.

Channeling the Ida River

Twenty-five years ago, Ida River was transformed into the raging canoe slalom course that it is now. The course went through further construction when Toyama became the host city of Japan's National Athletic Meet in 2000. Significant improvements have been made over three years of intensive reconstruction work. The outcome allowed Toyama to host major national and pan-Pacific events, including the Japan Cup, the Japan Canoe Slalom Championships, and the NHK Cup Slalom Competitions year after year.

The snowmelt from the Japanese Alps produce the natural rapids of Ida River.

The slalom course, devised from a natural river, is artificially designed by the deliberate placement of natural rocks. A maximum of 25 tons of water per second can be released from a dam upstream during competitions. The course is considered as one of the most difficult streams in Japan, and has been approved by the Japan Olympic Committee as a slalom training center since 2002.

We would like all teams to take note of the fact that the water in this river is subject to the amount of snowmelt in the mountain ranges. This winter of 2015-16 has experienced the warmest temperatures in 50 years, and the amount of snowfall is drastically low. However, we will do our utmost to secure the maximum water quantity for the Asian Championships and Rio Qualifier, and eagerly anticipate your team's arrival.

LENGTH OF COURSE:	250 meters
WIDTH OF COURSE:	Ranges between 5 and 15 meters

OLYMPIC QUALIFIER EVENTS FOR RIO 2016 INDIVIDUAL EVENTS ONLY
K1-M	C1-M	C2-M	K1-W

All of the Individual Events, including WC1 are recognized as ICF Ranking Events.

The competition will be conducted in accordance with the 2015 ICF Canoe Slalom Rules and the rules of the ICF Canoe Slalom Olympic Qualification System. Each National Federation that is affiliated to the ACC may enter up to 3 boats in each event. For the purpose of ICF Ranking, if countries wish to enter more than 3 boats per event (maximum 6 boats), the additional boats must be entered through a separate Entry Form. For the Olympic Qualifier, only those National Federations that have competed in the 2015 World Championships that took place in London, UK on September 16-20 are eligible to be qualified for Rio 2016.

3. Entries

For participation in the Asian Canoe Slalom Championships and the Asian Continental Qualifier for the Rio Olympics 2016, all NFs must submit the Numerical Entry Form and Nominal Entry Form to the Organizing Committee. The APPENDIX 1 - Numerical Entry Form must be submitted before March 4, 2016 (0:00 GMT+9, midnight Japan Standard Time), and the APPENDIX 2 - Nominal Entry Form for Individual Events and the APPENDIX 3 - Nominal Entry Form for Team Events must be submitted before April 8, 2016 (0:00 GMT+9), to the Organizing Committee.

The Asian Canoe Slalom Championships and the Asian Continental Qualifier for the Rio Olympics 2016 are also included in the ICF Ranking Race programme. Consequently, all NFs must also submit their athletes' Numerical and Nominal data into the online ICF ISIS System. The entry deadline for the ISIS Numerical Entry is March 4, 2016, and the entry deadline for the ISIS Nominal Entry is April 8, 2016. See important note on next page.

CAUTION/IMPORTANT: In the ICF Calendar and the ISIS System, this Asian Championship/ Rio Continental Qualifier Event appears under both “Continental Championships” and “ICF Ranking Event”. However, entries are only available in the ICF Ranking instance of the event. So please make sure to make your entries through the ICF Ranking version of the event in ISIS and then inform the organiser about the names of the athletes who will be eligible for the Olympic Qualifier (maximum 3 per NF). The final list of eligible athletes per NF for Continental Championships and Olympic qualifier will be validated during the Team Leaders meeting.

Please enter your athletes through the ISIS Event Page at the URL Link below:

<https://icf.msl.es/icf/main.jsp>

If you need your NF credentials to access ISIS, please contact isis@canoeicf.com.

With regard to Entry Fees, please refer to Section 4: Entry Fees below.

4. Entry Fees

The Event Entry Fee is JPY 15,000 per person. This includes the cost for accreditation, airport transportation, boat storage, etc.

We kindly ask that you pay the Event Entry Fee together with the payment for your Room and Board to the bank account of JTB, our official travel agency. For the bank information and details on payment, see Section 12: Payments.

		Finals for Team Races (16:00 – 16:30)
		Closing Ceremony

*The ITO Seminar and Examination will be held from April 21st. Detailed information on the ITO Exam will be distributed in a separate bulletin.

6. Awards

Competitors that achieve places in the top 3 of each category in the Asian Championships will be awarded with medals. In the case that the same National Federation (NF) wins more than 1 medal place in a category, the medal place will be awarded to the NF of the next best ranking competitor that has not yet won a medal in that category.

7. Talent Identification Program

The ICF Talent Identification Program (TIP) exists to support promising young athletes to receive exclusive canoe education and training from professional paddlers and enable them to compete in international competitions, and most importantly, train to become an Olympic athlete. In the past, the ICF Slalom TIP has held training camps in Asia, such as Nepal, Thailand, and Iran.

In the same manner as previous years, a TIP Camp will be held in conjunction with the Asian Championship. This year, the TIP Canoe Slalom Continental Camp is planned to be held in Toyama prior to the Championship, from April 18th to 25th. This camp will consist of athletes registered by their National Federations under the 2016 TIP CSL Programme.

All participant TIP athletes will be supported with food, lodging, local transportation and coaching. Athletes are required to attend the camp with their own equipment (boat, paddle, lifejacket, spraydeck and helmet fulfilling ICF CSL regulations).

The number of invited athletes is limited to 8. A quota of 1 athlete per country will first be given based on TIP CSL 2016 registrations.

Athletes must arrive and depart from Toyama Kitokito Airport (TOY). For further information regarding flights and travel, please see Section 9: Transportation and Section 10: Boat Transportation.

Please note that ICF is still receiving applications from NFs who want to nominate young talented paddlers for the 2016 TIP Slalom Programme. Each NF is allowed to apply 2 athletes (1 boy and 1 girl). The deadline for 2016 TIP CSL Participant applications is January 31, 2016.

For registrations, information, and inquiries on the TIP Programme and the TIP Camp in Toyama, please contact Pierrick Gosselin at pierrick.gosselin@gmail.com.

We recommend that you fly into Toyama using one of the above connections from Incheon, Dalian, Shanghai, or Taipei.

In the case that you will enter Japan through Tokyo or another city other than Toyama, please be mindful of the following: If you intend to land in Tokyo, we recommend that you use Haneda International Airport (HND). There are 6 daily direct flights by NH (ANA - All Nippon Airways), a member of Star Alliance, that fly between Haneda Airport and Toyama Airport which will enable you to make a smooth domestic transfer without hassle.

If you land in Tokyo Narita Airport (NRT), it will be necessary for you to arrange additional ground transportation to get from Narita Airport to Haneda Airport (approximately 87km apart, 65~85 minutes by Limousine Bus).

If you require assistance for domestic travel within Japan to get from the one of the Japanese international airports to Toyama, JTB can make the travel arrangements for you with set charge.

During the competition, ground transportation between the venue and the listed hotels will be provided for all teams by JTB. Transportation costs are already included in the Event Entry Fee.

10. Boat Transportation

With regard to the transportation of boats, the Organizing Committee will provide boat transportation from Toyama Kitokito Airport (TOY) to the competition venue. NFs that need assistance with boat transportation from Haneda International Airport (HND) or Tokyo Narita Airport (NRT) may contact the Organizing Committee to discuss possible methods and options.

11. Visas into Japan

If any of the participants need official documents for the entry visa into Japan, please notify JTB. You will need to complete the APPENDIX 4 – Visa Application List \(Excel Spreadsheet Tab 3\) and submit passport copies of all individuals entering Japan. Please keep in mind that visas may take time to process. Therefore, it is highly recommended that you submit your visa request as soon as possible.

Please check beforehand whether or not you need an entry visa for Japan from the following URL: http://www.mofa.go.jp/j_info/visit/visa/short/novisa.html

12. Payments

All payments such as Event Entry Fee, expenses for room and board, or any additional charges from travel arrangements should be paid to the following bank account of the Official Travel Agency, JTB in Japanese Yen currency only.

Please be reminded once again that a 50% deposit (non-refundable) must be made by March 31, 2016 to secure all hotel reservations. The remaining balance must be paid before the Asian Championship.
